INDUSTRIAL EXPLOSIVES FOR THE CENTRAL APPALACHIAN REGION

ACCESS THE ADVANTAGES OF AUSTIN SALES

Since 1935, Austin Sales has been a leading independent distributor of industrial explosives to coal mining, quarry, and construction companies in the Central Appalachian region and surrounding areas.

* Austin Sales offers flexible, reliable, and quick delivery of a wide range of explosives products, helping you to save money by eliminating the burden of managing inventory and storage. * Our subsidiary company, Hazard Explosives, continues our tradition of excellence in meeting clients' ongoing and last-minute needs for explosives.

As a leading independent distributor of industrial explosives, Austin Sales has the expertise, experience, and economies of scale to offer many benefits to your coal mining, quarry, or construction operation.

Savings

Your business can leverage the purchasing power of Austin Sales. Through our high utilization, we achieve volume discounts on explosives — discounts that we, in turn, pass along to you.

Your business will also:

- * Save money by outsourcing, rather than hiring explosives experts.
- * Cut the expense of purchasing special equipment.
- * Eliminate facilities costs because we store the explosives and manage a vast inventory for you.

Extensive Inventory

Minimize your need for internal inventory and storage. Austin Sales will accommodate your standard needs and also custom orders.

Our comprehensive product portfolio includes:

- * Ammonium nitrate
- * Initiation/detonation systems (permissible and non-permissible)
- * Underground blasting explosives (permissible and non-permissible)
- * Emulsion blends

Dependable Service

Austin Sales has a vast, dedicated fleet of vehicles ready to deliver the necessary products to your operation — even in the most remote areas. Through our strategically located storage magazines in Virginia and Kentucky, we are able to get explosives to you the same day.

We also offer:

- * On-site storage facilities
- * Customized delivery schedules
- * Special equipment
- * Access to materials for the life of your project

Compliance Assistance

When it comes to industrial explosives, there are several measures you must take to comply with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF). Austin Sales guides you through the application process for ATF and state permits required for the use of explosives.
